

Monday, March 17, 2008

Since our family was introduced by Joseph Welsh Elementary to the book “The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People” by Stephen R. Covey, we have noticed a lot of changes. They started out slow, and now are very noticeable in our house. The more the kids learned at school, the more we started to learn at home and that inspired us to look for more. We are now a part of a company called Team and what they believe is that Together Everyone Achieves More, T E A M. We have found the small changes we have made in our lives make our days so much easier. The kids are now putting First Things First, by getting ready for school first then playing when all their jobs are done. We solve problems by using Habit 4. Think Win/Win and homework gets done most of the time with using Habit 2, Begin With The End In Mind. For example, if they wanted to go outside and play with their friends then they need to get their homework done. Colin and I are now finding more ways to solve problems as well. We found that the kids listened more to what we have to say when we’re all not raising our voices at each other. Thanks to what they are learning in school our house is a lot Happier!

Thanks Joseph Welsh!

Sincerely,

Colin and Shawna Learning